Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion, for behold, I come and I will dwell in your midst, declares the LORD.

Zech 2:10

Part of the future hope is that God/YHWH will return to his people. Often that is viewed alongside the messianic hope.

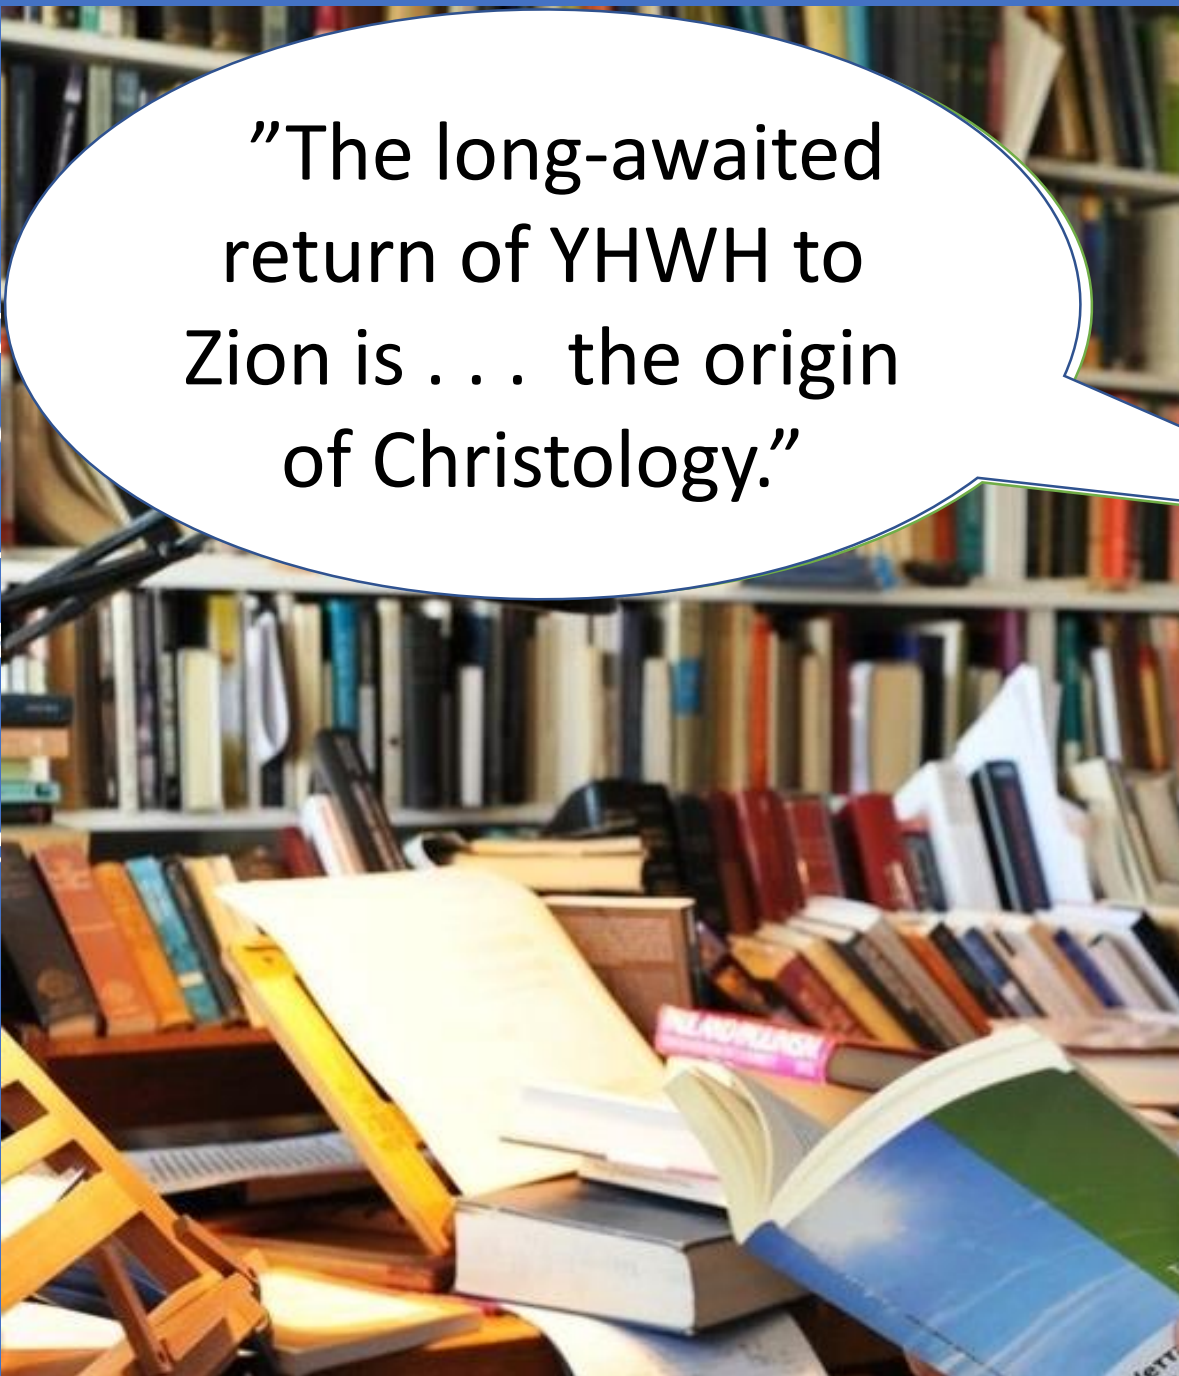

“Central to Second Temple Judaism was the conviction that Israel’s God, having abandoned Jerusalem and the temple prior to its destruction [586 BC], had promised to return to his people one day. That return would be in person and in glory. That return would be to judge and to save, specifically, to bring about a new exodus, overthrowing Israel’s enemies and releasing God’s people from bondage. In short, God would return to be king.”

So today we will focus on Matthew's use of Zechariah

Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion!
Shout aloud, O daughter of Jerusalem!
Behold, your king is coming to
you;
righteous and having salvation is
he,
humble and mounted on a donkey,
on a colt, the foal of a donkey.
--Zech 9:9

This took place to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet, saying, “Say to the daughter of Zion, ‘Behold, your king is coming to
you,
humble, and mounted on a
donkey,
on a colt, the foal of a beast of burden.’”

And I will pour out on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and pleas for mercy, so that, when they look on me, on him whom they have pierced, they shall mourn for him, as one mourns for an only child, and weep bitterly over him, as one weeps over a firstborn.

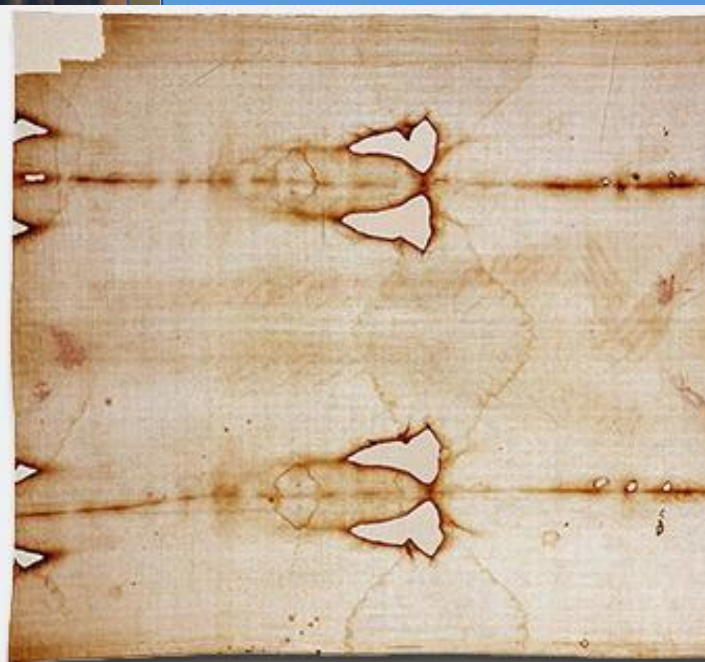

--Zechariah 12:10

Behold, he is coming with the clouds, and every eye will see him, even those who pierced him, and all tribes of the earth will wail on account of him. Even so. Amen.

And they weighed out as my wages thirty pieces of silver. Then the LORD said to me, “Throw it to the potter”—the lordly price at which I was priced by them. So I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them into the house of the LORD, to the potter.

--Zechariah 11:12-13

Then one of the twelve, whose name was Judas Iscariot, went to the chief priests and said, “What will you give me if I deliver him over to you?” And they paid him thirty pieces of silver.

The Work of the Messiah . . . Is the work of the Messiah's people

"God's end-time agent whose task is to liberate the world from evil, oppression, sin, sickness, and death." (p. 26)

We are to fight and stand against evil, oppression, sin, sickness and death.

Who is Jesus?

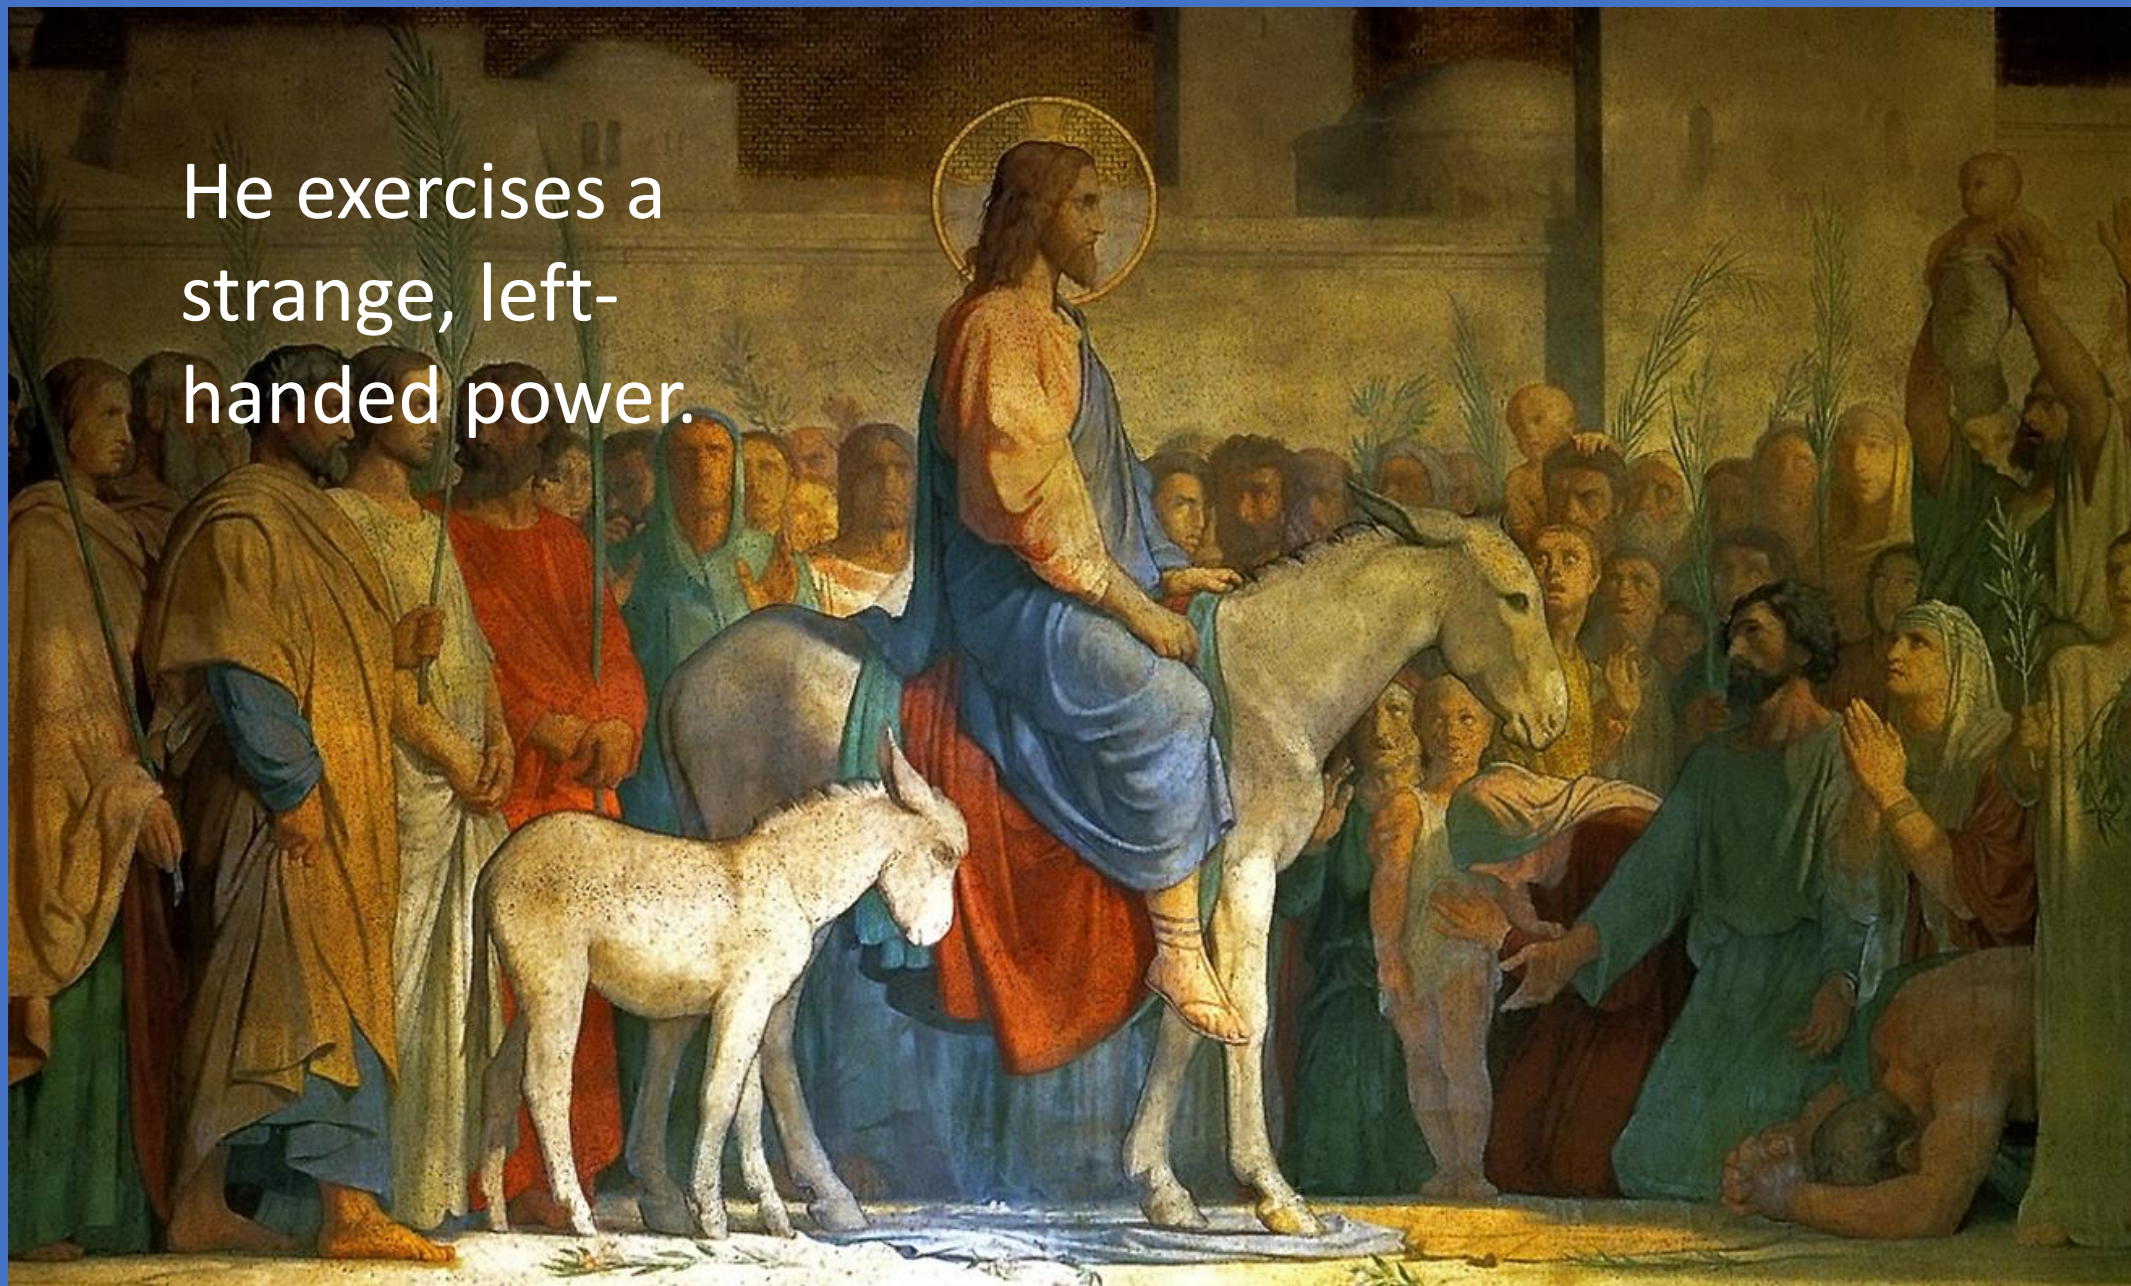

Jesus, the Messiah, is the embodiment of the God of Israel.

The LORD has come.

The LORD is come.

And Jesus is a most unusual King.

He exercises a strange, left-
handed power.

He exercises a
handed power.

He comes to serve
not to be served.

His way is humility. His motivation . . .
love

He comes to serve
not to be served.

We are to follow his example.

He wins by giving
his life a ransom.

586BC,
Jerusalem falls
to Babylon with Judah deported
to Babylon

So what gives?
What is real?
Where is God?
What does he remember?

God creates AMAZING people to reflect his image, to do amazing work, and to walk in intimacy
with him

People rebel against God, mar his image,
and wreck the pure
relationship with serious consequences

God's judgment
should be immediate
death, but it isn't.
God promises to
bring a male redeemer from the offspring of Eve

Some time later, God calls a faithful fellow named Abram.

God promises to
bring his promise for humanity through
Abraham

God stops Abraham
from sacrificing his son, promising to provide the real
sacrifice

Abraham's offspring
fall into slavery
for hundreds of years in Egypt

God calls Moses to lead the people
out of Egypt

The people are rescued through death of the first born and the blood of the Passover lamb

God leads the people out of slavery into
the Promised Land

God feeds his people from the bread of heaven

God enters into a special relationship with Israel, promising land and safety as they shine his light to the nations.

God instructs the people to build a tabernacle for his presence in their midst

The people enter into the Promised Land, becoming the nation of Israel

David becomes Israel's great king

Solomon becomes king and builds the temple of the Lord
